TO OUR CUSTOMERS WHO WERE LOCKED OUT LAST THURSDAY

Our Sale opened last Thursday morning and brought us such a crowd that we were unable to attend to them all. When the congestion became too great we were forced to lock our doors, because it would only increase the difficulty of giving attention to customers already in the store if an unlimited number were admitted at one time. If you were one of those who were shut out we can only say that this is not a one day sale or a one week sale, but it is a sale that will last until our whole stock is disposed of and our stock is so large and well assorted, that it will take weeks of selling before any shortage of stock will be noticeable. If you did not get waited on during the early days of this sale your opportunity will be even better than now on, the bargains will be even better than those of the first weeks offerings and the stock and assortment much better arranged for selection. On another page of this issue is a large number of interesting items not advertised before.

READ PAGE 4 OF THIS ISSUE

It contains items of interest that we had not room for last week. The fact is we have spent our time pricing goods so that the bargains themselves would be our best advertisement, and have not assembled anything like a complete list for printing as yet. But in spite of the enormous business of the last few days our stock is scarcely touched and we are only now really getting in shape to properly display goods in order to make selection easy. Even if you have been in before come in this week again as it was simply impossible to really show you our lines that we had not room to display on the opening days, we find ourselves compelled to close Tuesday and Wednesday mornings Nov. 18 and 19 to get our stock in shape, but we will be open Tuesday day at 1 p.m. and Wednesday at 1 p.m. and Wednesday evening.

LOCAL JOTTINGS

A card party in aid of the Sacred Heart Church will be held in the McIntosh Hall, above the Women's Shop, on Tuesday evening, 18th inst. An enjoyable evening is promised, and everybody invited.

The "Shop-in-Calgary" Campaign under the auspices of a Calgary newspaper seems to have fallen very flat as far as Strathmore is concerned. The people locally are not too keen to believe that they can buy in Calgary any cheaper, or even as cheap, as here, especially at the bargains offered just now. There is precious little that can't be got here that can be got in Calgary, in the oil shares or skyline real estate.

Even booze costs fifty per cent, more in Calgary than it does here.

Mr Arthur Wright, Edmonton, who was married in the northern last week and his bride, arrived here last Thursday on a visit to Mr and Mrs Thomas and Mr and Mrs Harold Wright.

One of our leading merchants stated recently that last month was $3000 better than any other in the history of his store, and he has been in business for nearly five years.

We note that four trustees of Okotoks School Board recently resigned on a complaint made to the Department of Education by a ratepayer that they had been selling supplies to the school, which is unlawful. Members of some of our own local public bodies would do well to bear this principle in mind.

A big dance is to be held in the Opera House on Friday evening, under the auspices of Strathmore A.A. and the baseball club. Temporary repairs have been made to the Opera House to render it safe. Everybody is welcome, and a big time is promised.

Mr H. B. Heene has resigned his position as manager of the Strathmore Demonstration Farm, and the position is being filled temporarily by Mr Smith, of the Company's Animal Husbandry Branch.

The lecture to have been delivered here on Wednesday evening under the auspices of the School Board and the University of Alberta, had to be postponed owing to the inability of the lecturer, Professor W. H. Alexander, to make train connections at Calgary. The next lecture of the series to be given here will be on Wednesday, 26th inst., the subject being "Architecture," and the lecturer Professor C. M. Burgess.

Mr Alex. Gray, blacksmith at the C.P.D., had the misfortune to be kicked on the leg by a horse on Tuesday. One of the bones of his leg was broken, and he will probably be a month before he is able to work again.

Mr and Mrs Dukeslow, Mrs N. Mackintosh, and Mrs O. Borggren, arrived back here last week-end after opening the summer with Mr Dukeslow's big contracting outfit on the new line south and near Brooks. They will spend the winter with Mr Green, of the Strathmore Farm Co., and their horses will also be wintered on this farm.

Sues Bank of Commerce For Libel

INTERESTING LOCAL CASE IN SUPREME COURT THIS WEEK

A case of considerable interest to local people was heard this week at the civil sittings of the Supreme Court at Calgary before Hon Mr Justice Walsh and a jury. It consisted of an action for libel against the Canadian Bank of Commerce and their Strathmore manager, Mr C. L. Miles, by John Mackenzie, proprietor of the Strathmore Standard, damages claimed being $2000. The Bank was represented by Mr K. B. Bennett, K. C., M. P., and L. A. Roberts, and the plaintiff by Mr Frank Eaton, K. C., and Mr A. B. Clow.

Evidence for the plaintiff was taken on Monday afternoon, and for the defence on Tuesday forenoon, the decision being given at noon. The action was dismissed without costs, Justice Walsh deciding that the communication complained of was a privileged one, and that therefore the case could go to the jury. The Bank denied libel, stating that at mistake in identity had been made, and that there was no malicious intent.

THE PLAINTIFF'S STORY

As shown by Mr Eaton's pleadings, and by his own evidence, was that in October of 1910 he purchased the business of the Strathmore Standard newspaper and plant from Mr W. Park Evans at a price of $2500, $1500 cash being paid and a chattel mortgage given for the balance, which was to be paid in amounts of $125 every three months, with interest at the rate of 8 per cent, the concluding payment to fall due on October 1914. Payments were made regularly and promptly as far as October 1913. On December 2, 1913, plaintiff left his wife in Scotland, leaving his business in charge of J. W. Dittens, whom he left with instructions to try to get the money on the same day, and also to pay the January note due on the mortgage.

When he came back from Scotland on February 21, 1914, he was surprised to find his business in possession of the bailiff from the bank, and was told that this action had been taken on account of the note not having been met, and of a very bad report that the mortgage, Mr Evans, had received. He was also told that he would have to pay up the whole of the mortgage within a month's time, or that it would be foreclosed. As a compromise he agreed to pay $200 within two weeks' time, and the balance within a month from that. On paying the $200 he received the notes due for 1914 back, and on the back of one due in January he was surprised to find following statement: "Refuses to reply to our letters. This man is worthless; any property he has is heavily encumbered." The day after receiving this he went round to the local branch of the Bank of Commerce, and asked the manager, Mr Miles, if he had written it. Mr Miles admitted he had, but that it was a mistake, the description having been meant for another man of the same name residing in the district. He was sorry for the mistake, and said he would do what he could to put it right by phoning to Glenhead and informing them of this mistake. Notwithstanding this, however, plaintiff had been compelled at a considerable amount of trouble to raise over $1500 more to pay off the balance of the mortgage, besides bailiff's fees and other incidentals. He submitted a statement of special damages sustained, and claimed that if he had intended originally paying for the business within 18 to 21 months instead of four years he would not have offered so much for it.

During a lengthy cross-examination by Mr Bennett, plaintiff stated that Mr Miles and he had always been on good terms, and that he accepted Mr Miles' explanation that

A GENUINE SALE Prior to Quitting Business

This Sale is to close out our large stock. It is the greatest sale ever held in this community, for it is a genuine sale to dispose of our entire stock. It is not a trumped up excuse, for we are positively going to quit business in Strathmore, and our entire stock must be disposed of, and our book accounts must be settled, that's the order and there will be no deviation from it. The genuineness of this sale makes it absolutely necessary for us to undersell all competitors, and we are going to carry out this programme, bar none. We are not sale artists with a fancy bait to tempt our customers, but this Sale means that on everything in the store we will meet and defeat all competition, and that on everything in the store will be put a price that will be a tremendous cut on regular prices. We have the best stock of good merchandise in this part of the country and you get it all at prices you never saw equalled. ORDINARY published sheet music is arranged with mathematics precision and the meaning which the author desires to convey must be interpreted by the pianist with sympathy and feeling, commonly known as "expression."

It is equally as with the perforated piano rolls. They are cut with exactly the same mechanical precision as the original copy or author's manuscript was written. It therefore becomes necessary that the "player pianist" must interpret the meaning which the author wishes to convey, with exactly the same sympathy and feeling as is required with ordinary published music.

Sues Bank of Commerce

a mistake had been made, and that it was done without malice. He also had considerable difficulty in proving the accuracy of his claims for special dividend, which he said was due to the time that had elapsed since the incident.

The evidence of J. W. Dibbons, plaintiff's manager, which had been taken on commission the previous week, was read, and in the course of it he stated that he had received two notices from the bank regarding the payment of the note. Collections were a little difficult at that time, though there was lots of work and plenty of money on the books, and he saw Mr Miles during January, and spoke to him about the note, receiving the answer that he did not imagine there was any particular hurry about it so long as the interest was paid. He also offered to show Miles the books, if he wanted any assurance that everything was in good shape. Early in February Mr Evans visited his place and told him he would have to get his money foreclosed. This was the first time he had known there was any urgency about paying the note. He collected the amount for payment to the Strathmore branch of the bank, getting a receipt, but the check was returned, being refused at Glenheim.

Joe Van Tighem, manager of the Union Bank, was the next witness. He stated that he had known plaintiff since he came to Strathmore, and that his financial reputation had always been good. He had borrowed money from time to time, and had always paid it back when due. Mr Eaton proceeded to ask witness some questions with regard to the general practice of bank managers in making reports, and was sustained by the judge.

W. Park Evans, Glenheim, stated that he held the mortgage against the Strathmore Standard in January 1912. The note due on January 4th had been discounted by the Glenheim Bank in his favor, the remainder of the notes being given as collateral. When the note was not paid when due it was placed at his debit, and he asked the Glenheim manager to do his best to have it collected. At a date subsequent to that he was informed by Mr Cameron, manager at Glenheim, that he had received a very bad report from Strathmore, and he was shown this report, which, receiving this report he consulted with Mr Corey, solicitor, Glenheim, and instructed him to take what steps were necessary to protect his interests. The result was that it was agreed to make a seizure on the property.

In cross-examination by Mr Bennett, witness said that he had visited Strathmore in December, and was not altogether pleased with the arrangement of some of the type and the appearance of the office. He had expected plaintiff to pay him up sooner than the agreement on the mortgage indicated, and had a verbal agreement to that effect. He did not think plaintiff did right to go away to Scotland and not pay him more on the mortgage.

THE DEFENCE
Mr Bennett, for the defence, moving that the case be dismissed, two of the reasons given being that the communication was privileged, and there had simply been an unfortunate mistake made in identity with another Mackenzie in the district. Plaintiff had stated in his evidence that he believed this was so, and that there had been no malice. He cited a number of precedents in support of his motion.

Mr Eaton argued that the occasion was not privileged, and also gave a number of precedents to support his contention.
Hon Justice Walsh stated that as the hour was getting late, he would adjourn the court, and he would look up the precedents and give counsel before the court opened next morning.

On the resumption of the court next morning, Justice Walsh stated that the communication made by Glenheim was a privileged one, but that he would require further evidence before making up his mind on the communication at Strathmore.

STRATHMORE MANAGER'S EVIDENCE

Mr Miles, manager of the Strathmore branch of the Bank of Commerce, in giving evidence, stated that he had been in Strathmore since September 1911, and that he knew plaintiff. As far as he knew his financial reputation was good, and any drafts sent to him through his branch were always paid or some reason given for non payment. He knew that plaintiff had left for Scotland in December, and in January a note was sent from Glenheim to the bank for collection. He had sent notice to John Mackenzie, Standard Office, several times that the note was at the bank for collection, but on receiving no reply, he sent by note back to Glenheim with the notation complained of. When writing it he thought that the note was that of John A. Mackenzie, farmer, and he had no intention of the description applying to plaintiff. He remembered meeting Dibbons in January, but did not say it would be alright as long as the interest was paid. It would not be in his power to say that in any case to that effect.

He had had some trouble with John A. Mackenzie in the previous December regarding an oat sale transaction. On being asked for the correspondence between the two branches with reference to the matter, he said that the originals were not here; but were probably at his office at Strathmore, and certain other papers were in the hotel where he was staying at Calgary.

Mr Bennett spoke sharply to the witness for not bringing them, and finally those at the hotel were got and Mr Eaton waived his demand for the production of the originals, and the case proceeded. Evidence corroboratory of that preceding was given by Mr Cameron, manager of the Bank of Commerce at Glenheim. Mr Bennett, in concluding his case, said that the action was unfortunate one, having arisen through a mistake in identity. The Bank or their officials had had no intention of attaching the description complained of to the plaintiff. In consideration of the circumstances of the case, he had strongly urged upon the bank that they pay their own expenses in this action, and they had agreed.

Hon Justice Walsh said that he held that the plea of privilege had been established. The manager at Strathmore had been asked to make collection of the note, and it was therefore his duty to state why he could not collect it, so that, though he had made a mistake, he had acted honestly, and no malice had been alleged. The manager at Glenheim was entitled to show Mr Evans the note, as it was the latter's property at that time, although it had been discounted beforehand. He therefore dismissed the action without costs.

Calgary Newspaper's Comment

The Albertan had the following to say on the case. It is somewhat interesting, but rather amusing: "John Mackenzie, editor of The Strathmore and Bow Valley Standard, has been sued for defamation of character against the Strathmore branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce."

Some Mackenzie had borrowed money from the bank, refused to pay, and in the bank correspondence a fledgling manager mistook the newspaperman for the delinquent and said he was "worthless." Editor Mackenzie caused a writ to be issued against the bank, asking for $5,000 damages. R. B. Bennett, counsel for the bank, represented to the court that it was a case of mistaken identity, saying his client had apologized, and he was willing to pay the costs, and the case was dismissed. So Editor Mackenzie walked out of court vindicated, but without having reached down into the heart of the big institution, where all the bank notes are kept."

FACTORIES IN THE WEST

Smaller Prairie Towns Appeared For the First Time in 1911

Much has been written since the onset of manufacture of 1911 was made public by the Government at Ottawa about the enormous development in manufacturing that has taken place in the last ten years in the larger cities of the West, such as Winnipeg, Calgary, Medicine Hat, Edmonton and others. A more recent bulletin from Ottawa indicates that the smaller towns in the West have also made a great expansion in manufacturing—in fact most of them came under the eye of the statisticians for the first time in 1911. This is perhaps a more striking evidence of the development of manufacturing in the West than is the growth in the larger cities.

In Manitoba four towns—Dauphin, Neepawa, Souris and Virden—have thirteen industries with $500,449 capital, employing 187 hands and with products to the value of $485,025 annually.
The wage bill of these smaller factory towns of Manitoba totalled $105,714 in the year 1911. Ten years ago there was no manufacturing establishment in any of these towns worthy of mention by the Census Bureau.

In Alberta five towns—Camrose, Coleman, Medicine Hat, Dyer and Wet-tlesheim have twenty industries with $782,371 capital, employing 456 hands and producing products to the value of $612,003. The wage bill of these smaller factory towns of Alberta totalled $100,716 in the year 1911.

In Saskatchewan six towns—Bateman, Melville, North Battleford, Swift Current, Weyburn and Yorkton have twenty-four factories or industries with $495,450 capital, employing 417 hands and producing products to the value of $414,854. The wage bill of these smaller factory towns of Saskatchewan totalled $85,168 in 1911.
The possibilities for the future under a stable trade policy such as has prevailed during the past twenty years are enormous when one takes into consideration the fact that twenty years ago, and even as recently as ten years ago, some of Ontario's best manufacturing towns, such as Welland, Walkerville, Bait St. Marie, Port Hope, Orillia and many others had no manufacturing development worthy of the name. Today they are thriving industrial centres with busy workshops and highly skilled artisans —the ideal home market, in a word, for the farmers of the surrounding country. This is the development in-store for the towns and cities of the West if a reasonable policy of encouragement for manufacturing is maintained.

FAST JOBBING TRADE

Interesting Figures From Winnipeg
Regarding Western Business

Through the co-operation of Winnipeg's wholesale houses, Mr. Chas. F.
The experience of the Wholesale Commissioner, has compiled some striking statistics. In Winnipeg alone in 1912 the trade of dry firms in the lines indicated totalled as follows:

Agricultural implements and farm machinery, $25,000,000; hardware trade $16,000,000; groceries, $15,000,000; dry goods and textiles, $17,000,000; iron and building trades, $12,000,000; boot and shoe trade, $6,000,000; automobile industry, $6,000,000, and so on, including large sums for railways and municipal supplies, chemicals, confectionery, metal products, leather lines, clothes and ranges, furfurnace, household necessities and other less important commodities. When to these figures are added the big wholesale turn overs of other Western cities, towns the aggregate would be astonishing.

Everyone takes pride in the vast business turn over of the West, but the question naturally arises, how much of this vast turn over has found its way to the pockets of the Canadian mechanic and in turn to the pockets of the merchants and farmers who clothe and feed the Canadian workman and his family whether in the West or the East? A great amount of the jobbing trade of the West must necessarily be concerned with imported goods, but under a stable trade policy Canadian made goods should assume greater proportions every year. Not only should the policy of the country be calculated to have these goods made in Canada, but they should be made in Western Canada. The Home Market is the best friend of the farmer, the merchant and the working man, as well as the manufacturer and the jobber. It is gratifying to see that the Home Market policy, which has prevailed in Canada for the last thirty years, proved in the establishment of many branches of American factories in the West and Eastern Canada. That this movement may be accelerated, undoubtedly in the West, must be the hope of every Canadian who realises the necessity of a uniform development in Canada.

NOT FEASIBLE NOW

Leading Grain Grower Admits Impracticability of Free Trade at Present

The controversy between the editor of the "Grain Growers' Guide" in Winnipeg and Mr. F. W. Green, secretary of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association, and one of the most prominent men in the Grain Growers' movement, continues. In the "Guide" of recent date appears a lengthy communication from Mr. Green in answer to some charges that have been made against him. The following is an interesting paragraph from his letter:
"On Free Trade, Nothing definite is the charge. Wrong again. I am in favor of Free Trade absolutely, as indicated above, but admit it hardly possible at the present time. I am not in favor of a quick agreement fixed up to oppose my own country or class.
Not in favor of free trade for my rival while I and my fellow farmers are to be bound. Not in favor of an agreement hiding me to keep out of my rival's pockets while, forsooth, is permitted unlimited range in mine. Be believe the average workman, meat home, or from abroad, or their employers."

In commenting on Mr. Green's letter the editor of the "Guide" makes no reference to the feasibility of free trade at the present time.

CANADIAN WOOL

The Home Market is the Best Market
For Canadian Wool

In the fiscal year of 1911 Canada imported about 6,500,000 pounds of wool, while her exports amounted to approximately 1,500,000 pounds, according to the report of the Dominion Ministry of Agriculture. This shows that we are importing about 5,000,000 more pounds of wool than we export, and when to this is added the 1,500,000 pounds of wool which is produced in Canada, some idea is formed of the great importance of the manufacture of woollen goods in Canada.

Doubtless there will always be some grades of wool which our Canadian manufacturers must import, just as in a great sheep country like the United States, with a duty on raw wool, manufacturers have to import certain grades which cannot be grown in that country. Every farmer should secure a copy of the report of the Sheep Commission, which is now available at the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa. It shows the backward condition of the sheep industry of Canada at present, and indicates the profits that are to be made in raising sheep for meat and for wool. If Canada's trade policy maintained the British Preference is not increased, there is bound to be an increase in the demand for wool from Canadian manufacturers, who, even under present conditions, obtain part of their requirements of Canadian wool.
The experience of the United States during the past thirty years has shown that the home market is the best market in which the American can sell his wool, and the same is true in Canada.

UNDERWOOD TARIFF BILL

The Schedule Under Revision Is Compared With the Present Canadian Duties

The following list of articles common to the United States and Canadian tariffs shows the different rates of duty applicable to them under the present United States and Canadian tariffs, and the new Underwood Tariff Bill in United States. It indicates that where the Democratic revision of the United States tariff as incorporated in the Underwood Bill is still several degrees above the tariff of this country. It is difficult to see, therefore, just how those who advocate a downward revision of the Canadian tariff in sympathy with the present reduc-

Government Agricultural School

Olds, Nov. 8th, 1913.

The Editor—Dear Sir:—Hon Duncan Marshall, Minister Agriculture for the Province of Alberta, has just issued instructions for the official opening of the Olds School of Agriculture on November 21st.

Would you kindly make it known to your readers that the opening will take place on the above mentioned date.

The general public is cordially invited to attend this official opening and to see the work that the school is doing. The plan will be to run the school all day of the 21st. Just as it runs every day of the school year. There will be boys in the blacksmith shop, carpenter shop, stock judging, room, chemistry, physical, dairy and other laboratories.

It is hoped that a large number of the general public will attend to see the practical work that the students are doing. This invitation is especially sent to the parents of the large number of students who have entered the school for the first time. Within a day or so of the opening of the school, every seat was taken, and 42 boys registered for the first year's work in agriculture at Olds. Principal Elliott has still on his desk other 8 or to applications from boys, because of full work, were unable to attend on the opening day, so that an additional 12 seats are being added to the already full boys classroom, and in this way, the faculty hope to make provision for all who wish to attend.

The work of the school is patterned very largely on the first 2 years of Joseph and Manitoba, the idea being to give the boys thoroughly practical agricultural training, so that they may be able intelligently handle the various farm problems. On January 6th, the Olds School of Agriculture will open its doors to the first class in Domestic Science. This class will run for 8 weeks, and very practical work in dress-making, sewing, cooking, etc. will be given.

Parents who have daughters to send to the Domestic Science course are cordially invited to attend the official opening on Nov. 21st.
Yours truly,
W. J. ELLIOTT
Principal School of Agriculture.

One Hundred Years Peace

CELEBRATION ARRANGEMENTS

Strathmore has been invited to assist with the Celebration of a hundred years peace between Great Britain and the United States. The invitation takes the form of a letter addressed to the Mayor of this town, requesting his attendance at an organization meeting to be held in Calgary on the evening of November 20th, at 8.15, when the election of a permanent committee to direct the peace celebration arrangements will take place before the various delegates.

Christmas Eve, 1914, will witness exactly 100 years of peace between this country and the neighbouring Republic. With one of the longest border lines separating the two nations, and with many large industries, the completion of two centuries of peace between these two countries calls for some fitting celebration. The occasion will be marked in a practical manner in many centres of great Britain, the United States and Canada, and in order that Southern Alberta may not be behind in this celebration, it is proposed to organize at once for the work and for that reason the meeting has been called in Calgary.

Plowing was carried on here as far as the middle of this week, but the frost has been more intense during the last three nights. Shipments of grain continue steadily, an average of between two and three cars being shipped daily from this point.

A Gentle Hint?

Strathmore, Alta.

Editor Standard

Dear Sir—Please insert following communication in your next issue and oblige.

I notice in your last week's issue considerable comment on fires, fire protection and so forth. One of our councillors suggests that more stringent measures should be taken to prevent fires. Very good advice Mr. Councillor. I would suggest that this particular Councillor start right at home and practice what he preaches and discontinue burning rubbish in such close proximity to buildings which surround him on every side. It is nothing unusual to see flames climbing nearly half way up the firewall which statement can be verified by any one who cares to go and see it. We run enough risk without making fires under our own door steps and courting disaster in this way.
Yours Respectfully
J. SAUNDERS

Unappreciated.
"See, John," said Mrs. Statham, with a heavy sigh, "I have taught the ordinary every time I come near him to stick out his little bill to his kinsmen."
"Hush!" said Statham, "you are spending your time teaching creatures how to present their bills for my attention. I got one from your utility this morning, not to mention a dozen or two others in the same bill."—Hesper.

Hopless.
A woman went to the police station to inquire about her missing husband.
"What is his distinguishing feature?" asked the superintendent.
"A large Roman nose," she answered.
"Then he won't be found," emphatically exclaimed a policeman. "For a nose of that kind never turns up."—Pearl.

Hard to Find.
"Don't get down in the month, old man," said the captain. "Look on the bright side of things."
"There's all very well," merrily replied another. "What I tell you is the bright side of a gunbail!"—Philadelphia Ledger.

HUMUS IN THE SOIL

This Valuable Substance Is Due to the Presence of Bacteria.

We find a vast difference in the fertility of different soils, writes C. L. McArthur, assistant bacteriologist, Idaho, in an experiment station. For instance, sand, although it may contain all the elements necessary for plant food, is still found barren and without vegetation. Garden soil, however, may contain all the plant food that the sand and still be considered very fertile. This difference is usually due to the substance known as humus. Where the humus is present the different elements are present in a form that plants can use. This humus is the remains of previous plants and animals. When plants die that part which is not used for commercial purposes usually goes back to the soil. In much the same way a great deal of the animal body reaches the soil.

As soon as this material reaches the soil it is attacked by millions of bacteria, which are known as the decomposition bacteria. These bacteria soon cause a great many changes in the material, each change tending to break down the complex into the more simple compounds. A part of this material is set free in the form of gases and is lost in the atmosphere, but the greatest part remains in the soil as a partly decomposed mass and is known as humus.

Different classes of bacteria continue their work on the material after it has reached the form of humus, decomposing the humus into still finer food and other substances from it. Thus we see that humus is continually changing. It is never the same in two different fields, and it also differs from year to year in the same field. The addition of manure to a field does a great deal toward the formation of humus. It not only adds decomposing matter to the soil, but it also adds large numbers of bacteria which form humus out of the material already in the soil.

It is not only the bacteria that are set free for the work of bacteria there would not be any humus in the soil but the soil and animal matter would not be so dry.

Screened Doors.
For the screened door or window which is so situated that the curious passerby can look into the room, simply paint the screen with white paint (not too thick). It does not obstruct the view, but the passerby cannot see in unless nearly against the screen. Of course the paint makes no difference when the lamps are lighted.—Woman's Home Companion.

"Get Your Canadian Home from the Canadian Pacific"

Wonderfully fertile land is offered for sale by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company at prices ranging from $11 to $15 per acre. There is no better agricultural land than this virgin Canadian soil. It is unsurpassed for all forms of agriculture, including grain growing, stock raising, dairying, poultry culture, vegetable growing, and general mixed farming. The lands are convenient to railways and markets, and are located in a country of low taxation and delightful climate.

TWENTY YEARS TO PAY

Under the Company's new policy no land is sold to speculators, but only to those who will occupy and improve it. The terms of sale are now one-twentieth cash and the balance spread over twenty years with interest at six per cent. per annum.

ASSISTANCE TO FARMERS

Under certain conditions the Company will advance a loan of $200 to new settlers to be used in erecting a house, barn, fencing the land and sinking a well. This loan is repayable on full particulars, apply to
